Hacienda la Cruz Hacienda la Cruz is a town, with a population of more than 8,000, in the Mexican state of Jalisco. It is located from Guadalajara, the capital of Jalisco. The town is situated at the base of a series of ranges, the central zones of which have the characteristic hue of the Talavera pottery of the region. These ranges were a nucleus of the Purépecha population. The history of this town is closely related to the Guerra Family of Guadalajara. This strategic mountain range was one of the chief arteries of communication between the Purépecha of the Pacific and the Nahuatl of the Gulf of Mexico, by way of the Jalisco State, the capital of Mexico City. The area was the cradle of the Guerras. This family now has representatives in other prominent positions in the country, and the area they populate has very distinguished features. Some of the most important places of the area include the Guadalajara-Mexico City railroad pass and the towns of Lagos, Sahuayo, and San Nicolás. U.S. Congressional District to be redrawn in Kansas, Texas after Senate seat Rep. Tim Huelskamp, left, and Sen. Pat Roberts talked before the start of the Republican primary election for the U.S. Senate in Catoosa, Okla., on May 20, 2012. Adonis Martinez / The Oklahoman Advertisement BAKER, Kan. -- The House of Representatives has redrawn U.S. congressional lines in an attempt to hold onto the Republican-leaning Kansas district once held by former Kansas Republican Sen. Pat Roberts. Kansas Gov. Sam Brownback's office announced Thursday morning that the state House had redrawn U.S. District 105, which extends west of Wichita and north of the Kansas City suburbs, in an attempt to retain the seat held by former Sen. Pat Roberts before he became the first Kansas Republican elected to the U.S. Senate in 2006. The seat, which was held by four-term Rep. Tim Huelskamp since 2011, will be redrawn to hold four instead of three districts. "I am pleased the 105th District has been preserved," said Gov. Brownback in a statement issued by his office. "Kansas has been operating under 'district-only' rules for too long. I commend Rep. Huelskamp and leadership in the Kansas Legislature for seeing this reform through for the state, and congratulate Republican Reps. Tim Huelskamp and Kevin Yoder on their respective election

What's new:

- The Giant Crown DLC 20 februar 2019 (Allere vælgerat) Performing community content is what we do, and we just published a book of card-style scenarios that explore that concept. We've seen a lot of great content on YouTube, and now there are even more resources available for our players. YouTube: GameMaster Ash GameMaster Ash talks about the ins and outs of performing scripted content for all of us, about his favorite YouTube channels, and about his community-favorite modules. Additionally, we now have a Facebook community group that's updated whenever we publish a new module! Pathfinder Adventure Card Guild: Facebook For a free, weekly download of a single new scenario, check out this Facebook community group where GMs can share what they're working on and discuss their experiences with the module. Fantasy Grounds: GM Screencast Patrick Madden has set aside some time to give a detailed screencast on how to use Fantasy Grounds. Did you know about the settings for mod_panels, dialogs, and GMText? GameMaster Ash: YouTube All these updates were new developments for our community. Showing the work and detailing the work, as well as building and casting spells in Fantasy Grounds, becomes a core new element in our shared user experience. It's very easy to step into a new OSR-centric community after a couple of years of adhering to Pathfinder's ruleset, and that's where our first video is here to help new users familiarize themselves with the setting and expand their online toolbox. Ash speaks about "what's the point of playing Pathfinder in the modern time?" A soundtrack of John Sebastian's Any Kind of Music You Can Play (released in 1979) can be heard at the start of Ash's screencast. Ash also talks about why he started this lab, and why he wants to share his experience and knowledge with others. Player Chan: YouTube Today we bring you a video by a GM called Player Chan, who is known for his work with Moria and the Lost Mammoth Valley quest. In this video he answers the question "What's the difference in playing Pathfinder 2.0 versus Pathfinder 1.0?" What

I've been helping test the next update to City of Heroes for both PC and PS3 so there will be a lot more coverage of this in the coming days. But what follows here is a breakdown of the basic system requirements of the game. This will be updated once the next build is available for testing. I'm using a PS3 as I have access to the system. While this list is not complete by any means, I've been able to test the game pretty well in the last couple of weeks. The minimum system requirements for a
